SCHOOL COUNCIL FUNDRAISING

Monday 13 November 2017

The school council at Spring Common Academy, based in Huntingdon, wanted to raise money to buy new equipment for their peers at school. Activities included a sponsored car wash and a drink and doughnut sale. With the money raised, the school councillors chose to buy books by the author Dav Pilkey. The books are available for all to borrow and enjoy from the school's library.

Spring Common's head teacher, Dr Kim Taylor, said "we are so proud of our school council for making this special effort which reflects the strong moral purpose we hold. Our students all have many additional needs, so to witness them working purposefully to help others in our school community is both heart-warming and a reminder of what makes our school so very special."
